SITUATIONAL AWARENESS

- President-elect Joe Biden plans to take his first steps following his inauguration to demonstrate a new strategy to fight the coronavirus, signing executive orders to require masks on federal property, renew emphasis on biodefense and reengage with other nations trying to conquer the global health crisis.—The Washington Post
- More than 400,000 people in the United States have died as a result of the novel coronavirus, Johns Hopkins University said on Tuesday (Jan. 19), as many states around the country struggle with mounting infections and hospitalizations. The US has recorded the most deaths from COVID-19 in the world, and also has the highest number of cases. Incoming president Joe Biden has promised determined action to bring the pandemic under control.—Aljazeera News
- Canadian leaders were informed by Pfizer on Tuesday (Jan. 19) that Canada would not receive any vaccine doses next week due to the continuing manufacturing disruptions at its facility in Belgium. Canada's Prime Minister Justin Trudeau sought to reassure Canadians that vaccine deliveries would pick up again in a few weeks and that the overall goal, to have every willing Canadian vaccinated by September, would remain on track.—CNN

ACTIONS TAKEN

- The Public Health Emergency Operations Center (PHOC) is at FULL ACTIVATION.
